Manchester Community College's Continuing Education Division continues its acclaimed series of cultural explorations with "A Taste of France: Join Us for an Authentic French Meal and Culinary Talk." This class/meal meets Tuesday evening, Feb. 25, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the college's Culinary Arts Center.

Participants will learn about the place and culture behind an authentic French cuisine that will be prepared and served by MCC's culinary students. Seating is limited but there is still time to register (refer to CRN 12180). The fee, which includes the class and the meal, is $25.

Guest speaker is Marianne Lebergerie, a native of Languedoc, France, and an MCC Credit-Free Programs instructor of French language courses. She will provide a lecture after the meal on France's regional culinary specialties.

MCC Credit-Free Programs also offers other culinary courses. Here are a few examples scheduled to begin in February. For the full schedule, check out the Credit-Free Programs Spring 2014 catalog at: http://www.manchestercc.edu/continuing/.
